Dear Norman:

I just received yesterday your good letter of July 30th written from Canada. We are looking into this matter thoroughly and I will be writing you about it in a few days. Meanwhile I imagine that you did not receive my letter of 22 July that I sent you to your New York address. I enclose a copy.

Meanwhile Clover has left these parts to visit our daughter and son-in-law who live in London and who are now vacationing in Norway. I hope to join her some time later in the month or early September but my plans are quite uncertain.

As ever,
